

It is heartening to see our fundraising for our new hospice on the rise. Over the past two months it has been given a significant push forward by a number of benefactors, two of which we profile in this issue.

We are also most grateful for a large donation from a couple who wish to stay anonymous.

All donations, whether from individuals, trusts or bequests, supporting the build of the new hospice building have shown us just how much Nurse Maude has impacted, and continues to impact, the lives of others.

Whether in our hospice, care home, specialty clinics, schools or in people's homes, Nurse Maude's care is far-reaching.

While we still have a way to go, we know we will get there with your continued support.

My thanks, and the thanks of all those who benefit from our care, for getting us closer to the finish line.

Chief Executive

Associate Professor Catherine Andrew, ONZM, of Christchurch, for services to nursing education

It was with great pleasure that the staff and Board of Nurse Maude congratulated Dr Cathy Andrew, one of our long serving Board members, on receiving the NZ Order of Merit.

Associate Professor Catherine Andrew took over as Head of Nursing at what is now the Ara Institute of Canterbury, when the nursing programme was struggling to meet external nursing standards.

Her experience and vision saw her lead her team to go on to create one of the most respected nursing programmes nationally.

She has led and supported the development of other health related programmes in Christchurch and further afield including the Postgraduate Diploma in Health Science (RN Prescribing) 2018 and the Bachelor of Musculoskeletal Health/ Postgraduate Diploma in Osteopathy 2017.

Associate Professor Andrew became Acting Executive Dean for Health at the University of Canterbury in 2021, chaired Nursing Education in the Tertiary Sector for several years, has worked with the Nursing Council of New Zealand (NCNZ) to improve programme quality nationally, chaired the NCNZ Registrant Quality Committee, and contributed to programme accreditations in Vanuatu and the Cook Islands

As a board member of Nurse Maude, Associate Professor Andrew continues to make a significant contribution across its considerable and diverse nursing work in the community.

Annual General Meeting

Nurse Maude Association & Nurse Maude Foundation

Nurse Maude would like to extend an invitation to all its members to its AGM
4:00pm to 5:00pm
Monday 4th December

(a light afternoon tea will be served from 3:30pm)

The Ballroom - McDougall House
24 McDougall Avenue, Merivale, Christchurch

The Board, staff and volunteers of Nurse Maude wish you a happy Christmas and New Year

New Hospice Shop Warrington

Our Shirley Hospice Shop at the Palms Shopping Centre, has moved into a lovely new shop at 63 Warrington Street.

The floor space is treble what we had at the Palms, allowing us to stock an even greater variety of clothing and fashion accessories.

Fundraising thermometer gets a boost

Marvin, one of our wonderful volunteers at our Summer Hospice shop was one of the first to (literally) tear another strip off our fundraising thermometer which is on the rise, with $6.5 million raised so far.

Volunteering

The Nurse Maude 'Crickets' Service (Complex Children's Respite Care Connections) is being renamed The Nurse Maude Children's Volunteer Service. This service focusses on matching volunteers with families/whānau that have a child with extra health and disability needs. The volunteer's role is to build a relationship with whānau and provide 2-3 hours of additional support to them on a weekly or fortnightly basis.

If you know anyone who may be interested in volunteering or of a whānau that may benefit from some extra assistance, please feel free to contact Fleur Hope, the Children's Volunteer Service Coordinator: childrensvolunteer@nursemaude.org.nz

Sutherland Self-Help Trust and Denver Glass continue support for Nurse Maude

A long-time supporter of Nurse Maude, and a large contributor to the build of our new Care Home some years ago, The Sutherland Self-Help Trust has now committed $400,000 toward the building of Nurse Maude's new hospice.

Denver Glass, together with his late wife Libby, have also been strong supporters of our work, driven in part by Libby's years as a nurse with Nurse Maude.

Like the Sutherland Self-Help Trust they made a significant contribution to get our new Care Home built and Denver continues to make substantial donations toward the build of the new hospice in recognition and memory of Libby.

The design for the new hospice has been recently revised to maximise the space available and allow for bigger bedrooms for inpatients and spacious family areas.

The build is expected to get underway next year.

New name, same exceptional care

Our Nurse Maude Hospital recently became the Nurse Maude Care Home to better reflect the environment in which our residents live.

While they still receive the same exceptional nursing care, this is, and always has been, their home, rather than a hospital, where they can enjoy the gardens, visits from therapy dogs, entertainment, and outings.

The residents are also well-connected with their families and friends through the Care Home's Family and Friends group on Facebook and Zoom calls where they can be part of family events and share photos and videos.

Stars in our eyes

A huge thank you to Hazel Lee, Customer Service Administrator, whose recent collaboration with the University of Canterbury's School of Music saw $1500 raised for our new Nurse Maude Hospice.

The 'Illuminating Hearts' concert was sold out before the big day and a few more seats were added to accommodate last minute door sales.

Featuring up-and-coming young musicians from the University of Canterbury, the programme featured a diverse repertoire that spanned various musical genres and periods, giving the audience an evening of enchanting music while contributing to the mission of bringing comfort and solace to those in need.

Several Nurse Maude staff, including many of Hazel's coworkers from The Hub, went along to support Hazel who was one of the performers. The audience loved it!

New look hybrid vehicles

Nurse Maude

Keep an eye out around town for our new cars with our refreshed logo. We have started replacing our fleet with the new Toyota Yaris. It's a Hybrid car but don't worry this one doesn't need to be plugged in. This car can switch between its petrol engine and an electric motor making it a very economical vehicle to run and better for our environment.

You'll see more of these cars running around town in the coming weeks as we phase out our older vehicles.
